Kelman Encruzado Grande Reserva 2015

Dao DOC

Juliana Kelman Unipessoal LDA, Viseu, Portugal

eCommerce # 164433 | 13.0% alc./vol. | $23.55

Fresh, mineral, with citrine notes, tea, and dry fruit together with ripe white fruit. Slight tropical notes. Full-bodied wine. In mouth it is very fresh, with good acidity and minerality. It has evident structure, volume and a lingering aftertaste. Good aging potential.

Terroir:

The Kelman Family Vineyard is located in Nelas, in the heart of the Dão region. 6 Ha of traditional grape varieties were planted at ~430 m altitude in 2000. Gentle slope and sandy soil (decomposed granite) provide a good drainage. Elevated diurnal temperature amplitude (cool nights and warm days) and natural soil acidity provide ideal conditions for the grape development.

Kelman wines are produced with minimal intervention following sustainable agriculture, the rational use of resources and the preservation of ecosystems, without irrigation, with manual harvesting.

Vinification:

Aged 24 months in new French oak with batonnage and over 2 years in the bottle.

Variety: Encruzado 100%

Residual sugar: 1 g/L

Serving suggestion and food pairing: Serve at 12°C with cod, sea food, sushi, white meats, soft cheese and tomato sauce dishes.
