Brand:

The word "barrister" originates from the word "bar", the barrier that separates the judge from the defendant. Barrister is the highest rank of lawyer in Britain. Since the XV century, the prisoners could instruct "an educated and eloquent friend" to protect their interests. The barristers had access to the "judicial bar", thus they could be heard by the court in the interests of their client. The barrister's speech in court is precise and sharp as a blade.

Brits say that gin is "as cold as steel" - due to the clean, cold aftertaste.

Production Process:

Aromatic spirits obtained by separate (individual) distillation of botanicals which are then blended according to the classic English recipe.

Aromatic Ingredients: juniper berry, lemon peel, black pepper and allspice, nutmeg, cubebs, angelica, almond, cardamom, coriander, cumin.

Serving suggestions: Great with Tonic Water and lots of ice cubes, garnish with fresh lemon.
